Merchandise Committee Update!

Thank you for all you do!

The Marketing Committee continues to make strong progress in expanding the visibility and outreach efforts of the North Carolina Fire Marshals' Association. Over the past several months, the committee has focused on increasing our presence at conferences, training events, and association gatherings in an effort to better connect with members and promote the association.

During this year's Fire Prevention School, merchandise sales totaled $5,052 with the successful rollout of several new items, including sweatshirts, hoodies, and whiskey glasses. The positive response from members has encouraged the committee to continue expanding and improving available merchandise options.

The committee has also worked diligently to develop and introduce new designs that reflect the mission and professionalism of our association. In addition, the 2026 challenge coin has been officially designed and ordered, and we are excited to unveil it to members in the near future.

Looking ahead, the Marketing Committee remains committed to growing the association's presence, supporting member engagement, and attending as many events as possible to continue strengthening connections across the fire service community.
